

Sarah Brigham

Sarah is a patient representative and her story is below.

“I was first diagnosed with ACC in 2018 after years of misdiagnosis. It was in the trachea and was inoperable. I went to Germany and undertook Carbon Ion which had a huge impact and left me NED. In 2022 I then discovered I had mets in my lungs and had a wedge resection to remove. I am now waiting on my next scan.

I'm passionate about spreading information on SGC and often mentor people who are going to Germany (not on the cancer just on how to get seen and where to stay I should add!) or sign post people when I can”.
